JUDY COX

Children's Author

I grew up near San Francisco. As the oldest of five children, I loved to tell stories to my younger brother and sisters. Learning to read opened up the world of books, and at a young age I decided to become a writer. I started writing my first book at the age of eleven, but never even finished the first chapter!

Now I've written twenty books and more than thirty short stories—with more on the way!

A FEW AWARDS

- Nevada Young Reader's Award
- ABA Pick of the Lists
- Children's Choices List
- Children's Book Council Best Books
- TIME magazine Top Ten Children's Books
- Anne Izard Storyteller's Choice Award
- Coretta Scott King/John Steptoe New Talent Award (illustrator Elbrite Brown for My Family Plays Music)

SCHOOL VISITS

I enjoy speaking at schools, conferences, festivals, workshops, and libraries.

- Upbeat, humorous presentation featuring PowerPoint slides
- Inspirational—how to achieve your dream
- Where I get my ideas
- My “rejection collection”
- The 3 Ps every author needs to succeed
- Why revision means “Re-envisioning”
